She carried a bridal bouquet centered with a white orchid and showered with swansons. Her only jewelry was a diamond pin which belonged to her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Mary Armstrong.

Following the ceremony a beautiful reception was held at the home of Mrs. Groover. The exquisitely appointed table was covered with a red lace cloth. White satin bows tied to clusters of white painted berries and white gladioli were on each corner and white tapers in five branched silver candelabra were placed on each side of the three-tiered cake topped with bride and groom and surrounded by dainty fern and white berries, which gladioli was used elsewhere in the home. Mrs. J. E. Doneho, Mrs. Cecil Brannen and Mrs. Eugene DeLoach, great aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Frank Grimes, another aunt, stood at the two front doors to greet the guests. Mrs. G. C. The Peanut Outlook For 1946

The outlook for peanut farmers in 1946 is very encouraging. We base this statement upon the following facts:

There Will Be No Restrictions On Peanut Acreage In 1946

The Secretary of Agriculture has already publicly announced that there will be no marketing quotas on peanuts in 1946 and farmers will, therefore, be permitted to plant all of the peanuts they want.

A Price Equal to 90 Percent Of Parity Is Now Guaranteed To Farmers in 1946

The Secretary of Agriculture has just announced that prices on peanuts will be supported at 90 percent of parity, calculated as of July 15, 1946. Based on the present parity price we have every reason to believe that the support price on Spanish in 1946 will be between $150 and $160 per ton and on Runners $140 to $150 per ton with a possibility that market demands may result in even higher prices.

There Is A Bigger Demand for Peanuts For Civilian Consumption Than Ever Before in History

The military forces bought one-third of the 1944 peanut crop and did not buy any peanuts from the 1945 crop; yet, the demand for civilian use exceeds the supply now and more peanut production is needed. In October 1945, eighty-seven million pounds of shelled peanuts were manufactured into peanut butter alone—all for civilian needs.

The above facts enable us to recommend to farmers that they increase their peanut production wherever it can be done with sound farming practices and conservation of the soil. The use of sulfur dust to improve the yield per acre and the quality of the hay, and cover crops planted in a rotation system will help in a big way to increase our production. There are more machines on our farms today than ever in the history and peanuts can be grown and cultivated by mechanical means perhaps better than any other money crop.

We have arranged for an ample supply of selected peanuts for seed purposes for all of our customers in every section. We have also arranged for adequate seed treating machines and material to treat their peanut seed before planting and thus assure better and more uniform stands.

Our facilities are at the disposal of our farmer friends at all times and we welcome our inquiry for any additional information as to the peanut outlook in 1946 or any opportunity to serve you.

STATE FARM BODY ENDORSES PARITY

President of Bureau Says Peanut Parity Program Will Be Carried Ahead

Macon, Jan. 7.—Announcement was made this week by state headquarters of the Georgia Farm Bureau Federation that the 1946 crop of Georgia farmers' peanuts will be supported at 90 per cent of parity as of July 15, 1946, which is the beginning of the marketing year. The announcement also stated that purchase and loan values by type, sound mature kernel content, and quality, based on historical differences in value, will be stated after the July parity has been determined.

H. L. Wingate, president of the GFBF, who has spent considerable time with Department of Agriculture officials in Washington working on the peanut program, stated that purchases under the program will be made until July 30, 1947, and loans will be available until January 31, 1947. The GFBF president further stated that such purchases, which will be made to maintain prices or to provide markets, will be through the peanut grower co-operatives located at Franklin, Va.; Camilla, Ga., and Godman, Texas.

Indications are that this year's peanut crop will be comparable to that of 1945, although the acreage will probably be reduced. This action is due to the fact that a considerable quantity of this commodity has been consumed by members of the armed forces, and since the close of the war new outlets will be found to compensate for the loss sustained when purchases were curtailed by the government.

Much research is being carried on by the National Peanut Council, Mr. Wingate pointed out, and he is of the opinion that the future consumption of this Georgia product will show a decided increase as new uses are found as a result of the extensive program being carried on by the council.

The love of a grateful people for a precious wife, sister, mother, neighbor and friend, now "At Home" with the Lord. I sat there with tears streaming down my face, and I kept them back—tears of joy mingled with sorrow; tears of gratitude for such a mother and for such a testimony for Christ and the "old-time religion"; tears of love and sympathy for a dear old man, the companion now bereft of his life-long partner and the mother of his dear children; sympathy for the devoted children, now bereft of a child's dearest and most devoted friend. But I came away saying, with the late Dr. George R. Stuart, "Thank God, the highest breastworks of protection that God throws up around a boy or girl in this world, is a good mother." As I sat there and followed Dr. Turner in his matchless tribute to a devoted sister, I thought of these words of Von Hutten, "It is a wonderful thing, a mother; other folks can love you, but only your mother understands you. She works for you, looks after you, loves you, forgives you anything you may have done, and then the only thing that she ever does to you, is to die and leave you."

In his closing remarks Dr. Turner spoke of the cemetery where they would lay her precious body to rest till the resurrection—in the sands where her children's feet often played; nearby the lake along which she had walked and played in childhood's happy hours. "Abide With Me" was sung, and Chaplain Howell, a former pastor, and Brother Summers, known and loved by all, gave the service and people, had charge of the service and spoke words of love and comfort. Brother Summers lifted us to the very Gates of Glory in his untimely prayer.

The procession—the longest I have ever seen in Clearwater—followed her remains to the "sands where her feet and played in childhood's holy hours," and there loving hands tenderly handed her body down in peace to the grave beneath shocks and sheaves of beautiful flowers to await the coming of Him who said, "I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on Me though he die, yet shall he live."

May the Father of mercies and God of all comfort sustain and keep and bless you brothers and sisters, keep you in the hours of loneliness that have come because of the separation occasioned by the death of dear Mrs. Nelson.

I shall always cherish your friendship and mine for each other—so sweet and tender through these years—and we humbly pray that the Lord's Year may bring health and joy untold from Him who is the giver of every good and perfect gift to you and all dear and near to you.

With love and sympathy,
W. B. PEACINS, Pastor
Calvary Baptist Church,
Clearwater, Fla.

No New Taxes Now, Reiterates Arnall

Atlanta, Jan. 7 (GPS).—"I am not in favor of any new tax, at least not at this time."

This declared Gov. Ellis Arnall at one of the recent pre-session conferences with members of the state legislature when the subject of a sales tax in Georgia bobbed up.

Governor Arnall, who is keeping his promise to the people that no new taxes would be levied during his administration, asserted that "a sales tax is not fair because it taxes the little fellow 100 per cent."

The governor then told the group who had assembled to discuss the program for the coming legislative session this:

"Any fellow who runs on a sales tax in a county race may get by, but in a state race he is a gone goner before he ever announces. I will think this whisky charge is the best way to raise money."

The legislators expressed agreement.
